

JumpStart for Sales CRM

When people talk about CRM, they are usually referring to CRM software, a tool that is used for contact management, sales management, productivity, and more.

CRM software digitises processes and automates tasks to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of customer relationship management.

An effective CRM system is used to manage interactions with customers and potential customers. It should streamline sales management processes to deliver increased sales, improved customer service and increased profitability.

Our Dynamics 365 CRM Jumpstart solution

For many businesses planning a move to a new CRM system can be a little overwhelming, with the variety of product options and price points available.

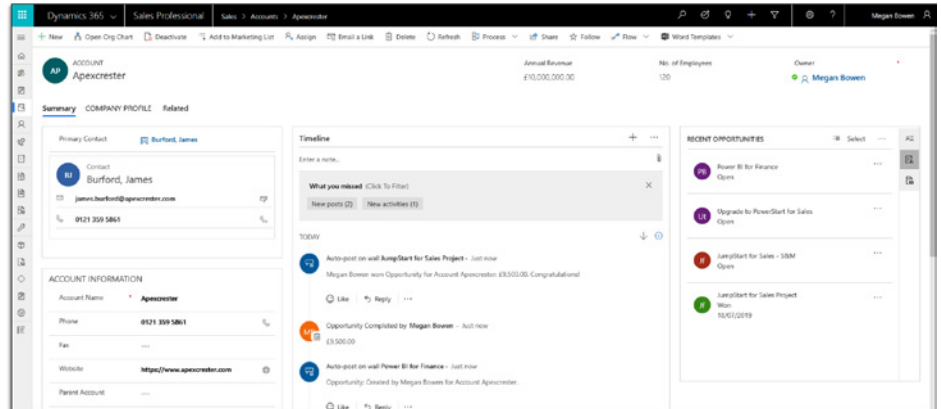

Our fixed-cost Jumpstart for Sales solution makes tailoring the process simple, allowing you to select from options that suit your business size and requirements and ensure you have a core platform matched to your needs.

Our Jumpstart CRM solution leverages Microsoft's Dynamics 365 platform to record the most important data of all – leads, customers, contacts and sales opportunities. Each area of the solution (entities) can be customised to remove fields that are not relevant and to add specific details in line with your business needs.

The solution organises this information to give you a complete record of individuals, companies and deals, so you can better understand your interactions, relationships and pipeline over time.

You can have an overall view of each entity by recording all interactions for analysis and storing documents in a standard format so that information can be found quickly by everyone.

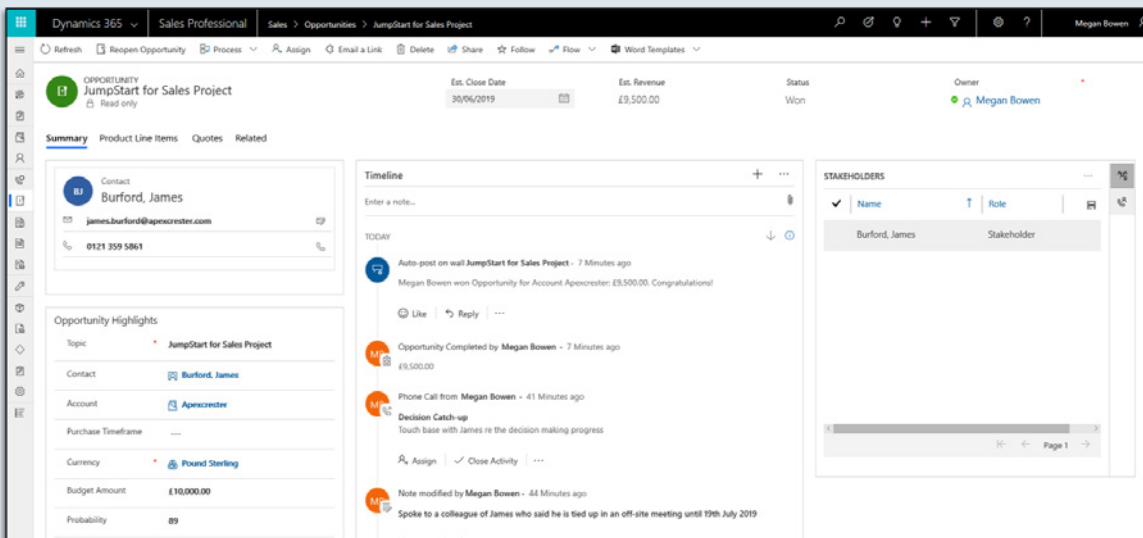

With this approach we can simplify delivery, cost and accelerate project timescales, whilst ensuring on-going success and enthusiastic adoption of the solution across your organisation.

Why is this better than 'off the shelf' Dynamics CRM?

Our Jumpstart offers you a well thought out and simplified solution that has the following advantages:

- All complexity and confusion removed
- Offers a clean and simplified experience
- All non-relevant fields removed
- Your specific fields added¹
- A structured sales process defined
- Account and Opportunity references added for easy identification
- Data imported from your old CRM system²

² Export data to be in a suitable format i.e. Excel or CSV, maximum records apply

What you can do with Jumpstart from Circyl

Forging good relationships and keeping track of prospects and customers is crucial for customer acquisition and retention, which is at the heart of our solution.

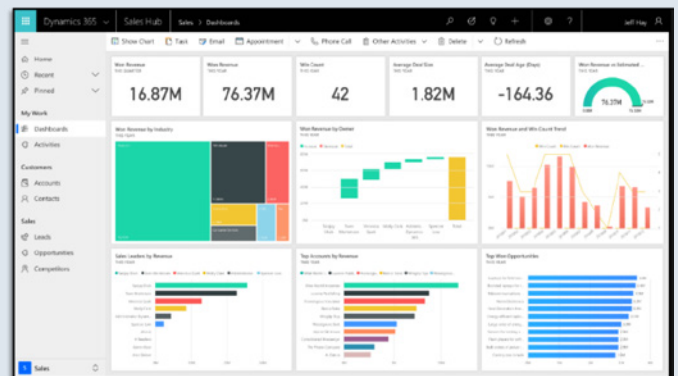

You can see everything in one place — a simple, customizable dashboard that can include things such as a customer's previous history with you, the status of their orders and any pipeline of future opportunities.

We include everything you will need to help you manage opportunities more efficiently and gain clear insights that will enhance performance.

Have an accurate sales analysis and forecasting on-demand

From short term goals to longer term targets, use Dynamics 365 to understand sales performance and activity to drive decision making. Spot issues and trends with interactive dashboards driven by real-time data.

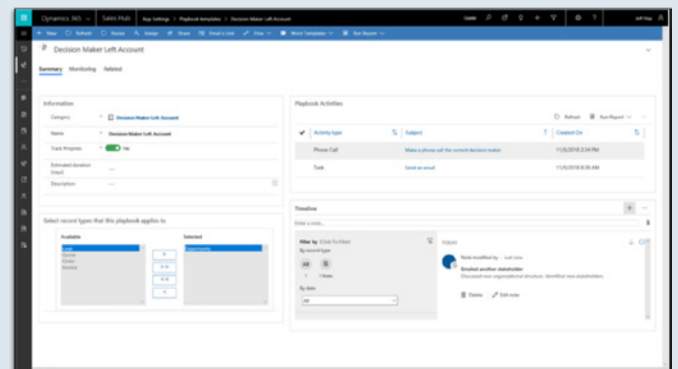

Avoid guesswork and make informed decisions

Use Dynamics 365 to see current status of leads and opportunities. Use filters to review sales stage, timeline and status to determine the best use of time to either progress or qualify out as early as possible.

The screenshot shows the 'My Open Leads Scored' view in Dynamics 365. It displays a table of leads with columns for Name, Region, Lead Score, Lead Status, Lead Stage, and Owner. The table lists several leads, including 'Myraiah Brooks', 'Lorenson Aguiar', 'Marlene Rader', 'Cristina David', 'David Hefley', 'Vanessa Sanchez', 'Vanessa Beck', 'Lisa Stone', 'Michelle Henry', 'Tina Hunter', 'Jodi Anderson', 'Lori Jacobs', 'Cynthia Dwyer', and 'Cheryl Brown'. Each lead has a 'Lead Score' and a 'Lead Status' (e.g., 'Steady', 'Steady', 'Steady'). The table also shows 'Lead Stage' (e.g., 'Steady', 'Steady', 'Steady') and 'Owner' (e.g., 'Steady', 'Steady', 'Steady').

Ensure your teams focus on selling

Onboarding and training requirements are minimal as Dynamics 365 uses the industry standard Microsoft toolset during every phase of the sales cycle. Save time with simplified data entry with contextual prompts that suggest new records to create as sellers enter notes.
