Data & AI Workshop

Your competitors are using data and AI to improve how they operate. How do you get started?

Most people know that both data and AI matter. Few realise how much AI could help their business, what it will cost or what has to be in place first. One day with us answers all of that.

Sound familiar?

- Critical processes still run on spreadsheets and manual workarounds
- Your systems don't work for you any longer and your people spend their time copy and pasting
- Your business needs an AI plan, but you don't know if your data is ready for it yet
- Plenty of ideas, but no agreed order of priority or budget

How it works

1. Before the Workshop
   A short scoping call and questionnaire
2. One day on site
   With your leadership team and the people who do the work
3. Your report within a week
   We play back our findings to your key stakeholders

What you get back

- A simple score of how AI-ready your business is and what is holding it back
- A review of how you work and where the gaps are costing you time and money
- A roadmap to a digital future, with an indicative cost per phase
- The problems slowing you down, in your team's own words
- What you can gain, ranked by value and effort
- An estimated return on investment, built from your own figures

£3,500

plus VAT, fixed price

Want to go further? A short discovery turns your first priority into a working prototype and a fixed price before you commit any further.

Credited in full against the build if discovery starts within 60 days. The report and roadmap are yours either way.

Facilitated by one of our senior consultants to help you understand which ideas are worth funding and which can wait.
